Summary

Dr. Matthew Baird is a labor economist with fifteen years of research experience in tech, research institutes, and academia. He is currently a Senior Staff Economist at LinkedIn's Economic Graph Research Institute, where he leads the equity research program. He uses a broad set of econometric and causal inference methods to study work, education, and health policy. Dr. Baird has published over thirty peer-reviewed articles and numerous additional reports, which have been cited thousands of times. He has presented his research widely and has led research grants worth millions of dollars. He has also taught several doctoral courses in labor economics, econometrics, and causal inference. He holds a Ph.D. in economics from UCLA.
